

Austria Wants Independence And Easing Of Red Squeezing

BERLIN (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov demanded again today that the explosive issue of Trieste be included in consideration of the Austrian independence treaty.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

BERLIN (AP)—Austria appealed to the Big Four today to restore its independence without further delay and at the same time asked for an easing of "harsh and inequitable" economic concessions to Russia.

The appeal was laid before the Berlin conference by Austrian Foreign Minister Leopold Figl. As the ministers took up the Austrian question, Russia's V. M. Molotov indicated he had a new proposal to make on the subject. Details were not immediately available.

Figl made his appearance at a regular session late in the afternoon which followed a secret meeting on Asiatic questions.

The mild-mannered Austrian made an impassioned plea to restore his nation's sovereignty and deliver its seven million people from occupation for the first time since 1938. He asked that the economic terms of the draft treaty be revised "in a sympathetic and generous spirit."

Heavy Payment

These terms would benefit Russia as the treaty now stands. They provide for a payment of 10 million dollars over a six-year period by Austria for the redemption of factories in the Soviet occupation zone which were seized as German assets.

They would also give Russia the lion's share of Austrian oil production for a period of 25 to 30 years. Figl argued that the disposal of the country's mineral resources is "an inalienable right for every free people."

FIRST SPRAY LETTERS FOR '54 SENT OUT

The 1954 fruit season started "officially" today, with the sending out of the first spray letters of the year from the office of County Agent Frank S. Zettle.

The sprays, to be used in the dormant stage or apples and peaches, can be applied at any time when the temperature is above freezing. The spraying is to be completed before the buds start to crack.

Farm Agent Zettle noted that "in many areas, there are more cankerworm eggs on the apple trees than in any recent year," and added that "the dormant spray is a good time to control aphids, cankerworms, and tent caterpillars." He said "the use of DN is the dormant reduces the number of scab spores that may be shot from old leaves under the trees."

Advice On Peaches

The materials suggested are two quarts of DN-289 or Elgetol 318 per 100 gallons for dilute sprays, three quarts for concentrate sprays. Or 1½ quarts of Liquid DN paste or 1½ pounds of 40 per cent Diniro powder may be used. For concentrate sprays three quarts or three pounds are (Continued on Page 10)

J. J. KERRIGAN, LOCAL PAINTER, DIES SUDDENLY

James Joseph "Cappy" Kerrigan, 75, died suddenly Thursday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock at the home of a son, Charles J. Kerrigan, 131 S. Fourth St., while preparing to go to the Kerrigan Paint Shop, owned by another son, and adjacent to the house where the death occurred.

Mr. Kerrigan has resided with his son, Charles, for some years. For several weeks he had been in ill health, and last week was admitted as a patient at the Warner Hospital. He returned home Monday, apparently much improved in health.

Thursday after his noon meal, he dressed in his room preparatory to going out, and as he came down stairs he spoke with several grandchildren, inquiring of their health. He reached the bottom of the steps, staggered, reached for a table and fell.

Was Interior Decorator

Dr. C. G. Crist, county coroner, attributed death to a coronary occlusion.

Mr. Kerrigan, a native of Emmitsburg, had been an interior decorator all his life. He lived in Gettysburg 44 years. He was well known throughout the area for his skill as a painter, particularly in shadings. He was responsible to a large extent for the delicate shadings and designs on the Adams County court room, when it was redecorated about 20 years ago. He was in the interior decorating business with his son, John, for about 10 years.

FOE Extends Drive For New Members

Members of Gettysburg Aerie 1562, Fraternal Order of Eagles, voted to extend a "special" membership drive through June 1, at a meeting Thursday evening at the lodge home.

Vice President John German, presiding in the absence of Worthy President Clarence Claibough, said that the Grand Aerie now permits local aeries to make minor changes in their by-laws.

German announced that at the 1954 local elections trustee membership will return to the former alternate year system. This year two trustees will be elected, one for three years and the other for two. He said the change will also institute the secretary and past worthy president as trustees. The secretary's new term will run to three years instead of one year.

The Eagles also voted to petition the Grand Aerie for permission to increase the organization's sick benefit from $96 to $108 for 12 weeks.

SEES DECISION ON MERGER PLAN DRAWING NEARER

Dr. Lloyd C. Keefeauver, Gettysburg superintendent of schools, suggested in a talk Thursday evening before the annual dinner meeting of Gettysburg jointure teachers and directors that the time may be near when it will be to the financial advantage of the local jointure to go into a merger or union district.

Dr. Keefeauver said that up to the present, financial penalties might have followed adoption of the merger or union plan but the time may be near for the school boards to initiate a move through the courts to have a school merger or union plan submitted to the voters at a regular election.

He said that recent changes in the law governing mergers now assure that each district in the merger would have one representative on the merged district's school board. Without going into details of the merits of the two plans, he expressed the opinion that a merger offers some slight advantages over the union setup here.

Healthy Financial Condition

In informal remarks that concluded the evening's program, he referred to the building program here that has provided two additions to the high school building and has bonds sold for the new grade school building. The total contract costs of the three structures comes to $1,760,000 but the superintendent pointed to the "excellent price" secured for the last bond issue as an indication of a healthy financial structure in the school system.

He said that while present facilities may be outgrown again in 10 years, the $32,000,000 real estate evaluation for the jointure makes it possible for the jointure to handle its present debt and look to necessary expansion in the future.

The superintendent told the group that among the 33 men and 44 women professional employees of the school district, 11 have more than 25 years of local teaching experience, 11 others served from 20 to 25 years; nine from 15 to 20 years; seven from 10 to 15 years.

Miss Perisutti Speaks

Dr. R. D. Wickerham, joint school board president, presided during the dinner session in the high school cafeteria with about 130 present.

FAMILY OF FIVE BURNED OUT IN MORNING BLAZE

The five members of the Stephen Wagaman family were driven by flames from their home about 2¼ miles north of here along the Mummasburg Rd. at 6:45 o'clock this morning when their brick-encased home caught fire as Mrs. Wagaman was placing wood in a stove.

Mr. Wagaman and their three children, Clifford, 10; Margie, 8, and Billy, 6, were asleep. The coal stove had been banked overnight and Mrs. Wagaman attempted to heat the home more quickly by putting some wood on the fire.

Sparks from the dry wood ignited the chimney and the flames spread "just as if everything were cardboard," Mrs. Wagaman said. She aroused her husband, then she awakened the three children asleep in a rear room and rushed with them out of the blazing building.

Lose Clothes

There was no time, Mrs. Wagaman said, to secure any clothing other than the night clothing which the youngsters were wearing.

The family went to the home of William Abell, a brother of Mrs. Wagaman, next door, and called the Gettysburg Fire Department.

The fire department made an appeal over WGCT and a number of articles of clothing were brought to the fire engine house shortly after the appeal was made.

Mrs. Wagaman estimated the loss of clothing, furniture and the home at "more than $1,000." She said she (Continued on Page 2)

On display at the meeting were 23 aprons, 15 pot holders, eight pin cushions, four embroidered pillow cases and a rag doll made by a dozen women guests at the home during the last three weeks in a sewing project started January 27.

Twenty-one of the 23 aprons were sold to the members of the auxiliary. Most of the other articles were purchased and additional orders were placed for woven pot holders made by one of the women on a donated eight-inch square hand loom.

The committee in charge of the project, Mrs. Mervin Murray, Mrs. S. E. Kapp and Mrs. B. W. Hughes, was voted $15 to purchase materials for continuation of the project, and additional donations of materials are sought.

The "lopsided" result was reported on the project to have the men of the home frame landscape pictures to be placed in the rooms, one to each room.

A request for landscape pictures from 1953 calendars resulted in a number of donations of old calendars. But the companion plea for picture frames in which the calendar art will be mounted—resulted in what was described as a "tremendous floor of frames of all sizes and designs." (Continued on Page 3)

Here And There News Collected At Random

An interesting treatment on the movements and condition of Abraham Lincoln at the time he delivered his immortal Gettysburg Address is presented by Dr. Louis A. Warren, editor of Lincoln Lore, official bulletin of the Lincoln National Foundation published by the Lincoln National Life Insurance Company, of Fort Wayne, Ind. It follows in full:

Those who observed Abraham Lincoln at the time of his first inaugural and again saw him during the second inaugural ceremonies have testified to the great change which had occurred in his physical appearance. While it is accepted generally that the President wasted away during these four years until he was but a shadow of his old self, yet he was almost without medical attention. With the exception of his case of nervous debility at Springfield, Illinois, in early 1841 there seems to have been no extended periods of illness in his while life unless we call his ailment in November and December, 1863, a period of indisposition.

Preliminary to the Gettysburg exercises on November 19 there was illness in the White House and one of the correspondents of a Boston paper on November 14 spoke of Mrs. Lincoln as having been suffering from chills. It was "Tad" the youngest boy, (Continued on Page 9)

RETIRED PASTOR EXPIRES AT 86 HERE THURSDAY

The Rev. A. R. Longanecker, 86, a Lutheran minister for more than half a century, died at 11:45 o'clock Thursday evening at his home on Oak Ridge. Death followed an illness of two months.

The Rev. Mr. Longanecker's last charge was at Littlestown where he retired in 1940 but for several years, while Dr. George H. Berkhimer, Harrisburg, then pastor of the Arendtsville Lutheran charge, was serving as a chaplain with the armed forces in the Pacific, the Rev. Mr. Longanecker supplied the pulpits of the Arendtsville and Fiohr's Lutheran Churches.

He was a native of Mummasburg and was a son of the late John and Elizabeth (Rife) Longanecker. He received his early education in the county schools and at the former Gettysburg Academy. In 1895 he graduated from Gettysburg College and in 1898 from the Lutheran Theological Seminary here.

At Littlestown 10 Years

His first charge was at Maurertown, Va., where he served two years. From 1899 to 1903 he was pastor of the Lutheran Church at Dillsburg. Other pastorates followed at Swissvale, Smickburg, DuBois, New Bloomfield, Loyalsville, Mechanicsburg and Littlestown where he was pastor from 1930 until his retirement from the active ministry in 1940. The Longaneckers came to Gettysburg in that year.

The Rev. Mr. Longanecker was a member of St. James Lutheran Church and was a teacher of the Ladies' Bible Class there.

FINAL TRIBUTE PAID TO LATE DR. WARTHEN

More than 750 members of the Gettysburg College faculty, student body and townspeople paid final tribute to the memory of Dr. George S. Warthen at impressive memorial services in Christ Chapel on the campus this morning. The popular head of the English department at the college died suddenly last Saturday after suffering a cerebral hemorrhage.

Rev. Edwerth Korte, college chaplain, officiated at the services which included Scripture readings, hymns, a eulogy by Dr. Francis C. Mason, associate of the deceased and long-time friend, and a prayer by Dr. W. C. Waltemyer, professor of English Bible at the college.

In his eulogy Dr. Mason said: "It is impossible for me to say what should be said about our friend, George Saylor Warthen. If the full truth could be spoken about his life and spirit, it would sound like the exaggeration of blind affection. A thing so beautiful and so close to us will not submit itself to expression in words.

"In the best sense his life and heart were an open book. The text by which he lived was an inclusive love of his fellow man, so natural to him that it could be read in every look and act. But so rich and deeply eloquent were the workings of his spirit that it will be a long time before we are done reading between the lines.

Noblest Gifts

"His work among us was made possible by a keen mind and a rich and varied store of learning. Time and again he astonished his friends by unpretentious strokes of knowledge, memory, or insight. But his noblest gifts were those without which intellect is nothing—those of the heart and moral character. He loved merit; but he never despised of those who seemed to lack it. A sublimely moral man, he rarely (Continued on Page 3)

SCOTLAND YARD SEEKS SLAYER OF TWO WOMEN

LONDON (AP)—Scotland Yard spread a nationwide dragnet today for the brutal slayer of a prim little great-grandmother, "Lady" Menzies, and her red-haired daughter at their sedate old folks' home.

A police alert went out for two men known to have frequented the many-gabled 12-room mansion tucked away in a quiet Victorian-style London suburb. Sleuths checked footprints and tire marks in the tree-lined garden and fingerprints and bloodstains inside the darkened old home.

Airports and seaports got the descriptions of a middle-aged man and a handsome bearded young man with pierced ears. Police said they wanted to question them.

Beaten And Strangled

The 68-year-old Mrs. Mary Menzies, known to the 19 aged residents of the home she ran as "Lady" Menzies, was found beaten and strangled in front of a cold hearth yesterday. The half-clothed body of her daughter, Mrs. Isobel Chesney, 42, was found submerged in an upstairs bathtub. She was undressing to bathe when the strangler struck.

Police said there was evidence that a sexual attempt had been made against one of the women. They did not say which.

It was believed the women were murdered late Wednesday night while the old folks slept peacefully. So quietly did the strangler strike that not even Mrs. Menzies' two dogs barked a warning.

The bodies were discovered by a maid. Police last night gently moved the dazed and frightened old folks to new residences in the district.

LINCOLN EVENT

Loud speakers will be set up at each place and the commentary will be given by William G. Weaver, Rev. Clyde R. Brown and John Lipsey Jr.

Sen. Duff To Speak

The scouts will form before the rostrum at the cemetery at the end of the parade. There, following massing of the colors, the Gettysburg College band will play the "Star Spangled Banner." Dr. Walter C. Langsam, president of the college, will serve as master of ceremonies.

Rev. Herman E. Stuenkel will give the invocation. The scout oath and law will be led by Frank Ehlman of Biglerville.

Following an address by U. S. Senator James Duff the band will play the Battle Hymn of the Republic while two scouts place a wreath on the Lincoln speech memorial and then will play accompaniment to the delivery of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address by Paul Uebel of Ephrata.

Taps by Explorer Scout Eugene Bollinger of York, benediction by the Rev. Fr. Wallace E. Sawdy, and "America" will conclude the program.

Following the cemetery event, the scouts will move to sites on the battlefield to cook lunch, then will tour the field. Senator Duff will be entertained at a luncheon at the Hotel Gettysburg.

did not know immediately what arrangements the family would be able to make for a residence.

Numerous articles of clothing and several donations of food were turned in to the Adams County Red Cross and Gettysburg Fire Department this morning to be distributed to the family. Assistant Fire Donald Staub and Mrs. Raymond P. Hill, Red Cross secretary, were at the Abell home at noon to present the food and clothing already donated and to determine other needs of the family.

In addition, Fairfield firemen offered Gettysburg firemen access to a warehouse of clothing, bedclothes, etc., established after more donations were made than could be used by the Smith family of Iron Springs which was burned out of its home several months ago.

Nixon Asks GOP To Avoid "Indiscriminate" Attacks On Democrats Over Communists

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Nixon has advised fellow Republicans to avoid "indiscriminate" attacks on the opposition on the issue of communism, while accusing the Democrats of losing at the conference table victories won in war.

Whether by coincidence or in line with President Eisenhower's counsel to shun extreme partisanship, a number of GOP senators seemed to take a more moderate tone as the Lincoln Day speech-making reached its peak volume on this anniversary of the Civil War President's birth.

There were still plenty of accusations that past Democratic administrations had coddled Communists, or been outsmarted by them.

Throws Hook Himself

Nixon himself, in a speech last night at New Haven, Conn., paid tribute to the way in which he said Secretary of State Dulles "has stood up to the Communists at the conference table in Berlin," and he added:

"The day is past when our diplomats lose at the conference table the victories which our fighting men win on the battlefields."

In counseling Republicans against indiscriminate attacks, Nixon said: "We must remember that millions of Democrats were just as fed up with Trumanism as we were in 1952."

Times Too Serious

Eisenhower told a Wednesday news conference the times are too serious for extreme partisanship. He said he would advise his official family against such tactics, and assumed the GOP National Committee would follow the same course. But he said he did not see how he could tone down others.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), who had said he could not "whitewash" what he calls "20 years of treason" under Democratic administrations to help win support for parts of Eisenhower's program, returned to his oft-voiced plea for a halt of trade with Red China.

In a speech at Dallas, Tex., last night McCarthy said "I know I don't agree with our administration on trade with Red China, but that doesn't mean I don't support that administration."

McCarthy Won't Change

As for Eisenhower's plea to avoid extreme partisan attacks, McCarthy said "I think he is correct in that." He said earlier he would not change tactics because he was reciting only the facts.

McCarthy also said there is no reason the two major parties should not work together to make all the world free. He said he has not been denouncing the opposite party "but only 'its leadership of the last 20 years.'"

The administration has opposed McCarthy's calls for U.S. action against friendly nations which carry on limited trade with Communist China, arguing that Washington should not dictate to its allies and that some trade is beneficial to the West.

"Shouldn't Be Crying"

McCarthy said last night he knows of these differences, but he added he supports Eisenhower "not because he's perfect but because his record has been so infinitely better than those in charge during the 20 years of treason there's no comparison."

Sen. Carlson (R-Kan.), who told his Senate colleagues yesterday he doesn't think the Democrats "should be crying foul," told a party audience at East Orange, N.J., last night that Democratic administrations "permitted Communists to penetrate into the highest policy-making branches of government."

"MR. LINCOLN"

When we think of Mr. Lincoln . . . there is much that we can say . . . for he was a man of virtue . . . with a kind and gentle way . . . we regard him not for ideas . . . but for honor and deep trust . . . Mr. Lincoln was most humble . . . as he was divinely just . . . he set wonderful examples . . . that live on throughout the years . . . though his life was one of chaos . . . and a well of bitter tears . . . yes, the world will not forget him . . . North and South or East and West . . . matters not about opinions . . . mankind knows he was the best . . . so we honor Mr. Lincoln . . . and no doubt we always will . . . with his words he gave us courage . . . and a promise to fulfill.

was a sentence from Sir William Temple, of the seventeenth century: "When all is done, human life is, at the greatest and the best, but like a forward child, that must be played with and humoured a little to keep it quiet till it falls asleep, and then the care is over."

"But the quality of his life is a part of the continuing revelation that forever enlightens the shadow of our doubt. That life he left unfinished; but he left with us the materials for its completion. His service had not reached its limit because he set no limit. He did not think of his life as a unit to be rounded off, a task to be finished, or a plan to be brought in his days to triumphant completion. It was for him, chiefly, a simple collaboration in the good of others. Until the last echo of his influence has died out of the lives of those he touched, and failed of transmission to other lives beyond, his work will not be done. And that will be a very long time. Meanwhile, his best memorial is the obligation that he so gently laid on every member of his college by the unself-conscious example of his life and service."

"It would be easy to say, in the words of his favorite poet, that we shall not look upon his like again. And perhaps that would be true. But I should prefer to say that if the college he served is worthy to look upon his like again, it is in large measure because she has already looked on him."

Dr. Waltemyer gave the following prayer:

O God, our Heavenly Father, our times are in Thy hand. We murmur not at Thy ways. Thy Word proclaims it, the faithful through the ages testify to it, and in our own hearts we know it. Thou art a God of love!

This day we pray for memory and for faith. We would remember our esteemed colleague and our beloved friend. May we never forget his genuinely good life. A life marked by—

Faith but not credulity. Conviction but not bigotry. Courage but not pugnacity. Self-respect but not vanity. Humility but not obsequiousness. Love but not sentimentality. A life of meekness with power. And we pray for faith—

To believe that the Valley of the Shadow is aglow with the gracious presence of Thy Son, and that the further end opens out upon a world of light and love; that death is not loss but gain, and that to be absent from the body is to be present with the Lord.

To believe in the reunion and recognition of loved ones, in the joy of congenial and everlasting friendships, in the attainment of long-sought ideals, and in the satisfaction of unutterable yearnings. To believe that we should stand at this outer gate that leads to such vast riches and reaches of abundant life, not with tears in our eyes, but with joy in our hearts, that our friends have entered into the beauty, brightness and bliss of the Father's House.

Mrs. Murray reported that the cost of placing new drapes, painting a wall and woodwork and furniture and placing of new linoleum on the floor of the men's parlor was $31.80.

Announce Donations

The low cost, she said, resulted from donations of time and materials and reduction in cost of some articles.

Mrs. Ira Henderson, activities chairman, asked individuals or organizations planning activities such as parties at the home to call her at Fairfield 7 to arrange dates to prevent overlapping of events.

A number of donations were reported. Mrs. Emma Depuy, Hanover, owner of Royale Dairy, gave 95 half pints of ice cream for use at the home; Delvalle Ice Cream Co., Gettysburg, a large quantity of fancy moulds of ice cream which already WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower took off in his private plane, the Columbine, at 11:27 a.m. EST today for a weekend of quail shooting on the south Georgia estate of Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey.

There was a stiff wind with temperatures in the mid-20s at the time of departure from the Military Air Transport Terminal.

"Keep moving," the President ordered his guests as they almost ran from their cars to the plane ramp.

Flying south with the President and Humphrey as Saturday hunting companions were two personal friends from New York, Cliff Roberts, chairman of the board of the Augusta, Ga., National Golf Club where the President often "lays, and W. Alton Jones, chairman of the board of the Cities Service Corp.

En route to the airport the president stopped to lay a wreath of red, white and blue carnations and purple iris at the memorial to Abraham Lincoln on the Potomac about a mile from the White House.

Besides his hunting companions, the President was accompanied on the plane by his press secretary, James C. Hagerty.

Twenty-one reporters and cameramen took off in an Eastern Airlines plane two hours earlier.

Peace Efforts Marked Life of Pope Pius, Dead at 81: Death Occurred as He Prepared to Celebrate 17th Anniversary of Coronation; Weakened by Illness in 1936 and 1938—Vatican City, Feb. 10 (AP)—Scholarly, peace-loving Pope Pius XI died quietly this morning just before the church bells of old Rome sounded morning Angelus and while the closest of his churchly servants knelt in prayer at his side.

His body was born in gorgeous procession this afternoon from the death chamber to the Sistine chapel there to lie in state amidst the celebrated frescoes of Michelangelo. St. Teresa whom Pius canonized was the saint to whom he had entrusted his health. His last years were saddened by war between the peoples he loved in Spain, by trouble between the church and state in Germany, and by the racial measures of the fascist Italian state.

Bishop Leach Orders Thirty-Day Mourning Period for Pope Pius: Harrisburg, Feb. 10 (AP)—A 30-day period of mourning in every Catholic church of the Harrisburg diocese during which prayers will be offered for the late Pope Pius XI was ordered today.

Heim Accepts Seminary Post: Dr. Ralph E. Heim, of Hartwick College, Oneonta, New York, has notified the board of directors of the Gettysburg Lutheran Theological Seminary of his acceptance of their offer of a professorship in English Bible and religious education, a position made vacant last year by the death of Dr. M. Hadwin Fischer.

County Leads State in Value of Fruit and Apple Output: Adams County is first among the 67 counties of the state in the value of fruit crops produced, first in the production of apples and the second largest peach producing county in the state, it was revealed in a summary of Adams County annual agricultural output which was distributed by County Agent M. T. Hartman, on Tuesday at the county extension meeting here.

Dr. Gifford To Study For Month in Chicago: Dr. Roy W. Gifford, surgeon at the Warner Hospital, will leave Gettysburg Saturday evening for Chicago where he will spend a month in post-graduate work in surgery at the graduate school of University of Chicago.

On Friday Doctor Gifford and Dr. Bruce N. Wolff, secretary of the county medical society, will go to Harrisburg to attend the thirty-second annual conference of the secretaries and editors of the county medical societies of Pennsylvania at the Penn-Harris hotel.

Lucy Smiley Weds Sales Manager of Lancaster Firm: Lucy Redding Smiley, 59 West High street, and J. Henry Hiemenz, Lancaster, were united in marriage at a nuptial mass conducted this morning at 9 o'clock in St. Francis Xavier Catholic church by the Rev. Fr. Mark E. Stock, rector. The single-ring ceremony was used. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick R. Rowe, East Broadway, were the attendants.

Mrs. Hiemenz is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas A. Redding, West High street.
Several weeks ago she resigned from the staff of The Gettysburg Times where she had been employed as a proofreader since April, 1934. For the last five years she has been financial secretary for the Women's Council of the Pennsylvania Catholic Beneficial league and has served recently also as the secretary of the Conewago chapter of the National Council of Catholic Women.

Mr. Hiemenz is buyer and sales manager for the Lancaster Drug company, wholesale druggists with offices on Prince street in Lancaster.

INTIMATE COMPANION

For over thirty years a small typewriter has been almost my daily companion. At home, in my office, on trains, and at my summer island retreat, it has gone with me as essential equipment. And now I have a brand new silent S-C streamlined one that is almost as stylish as the new models of our automobiles.

I say that this little machine is silent—well, not totally so, but with little throbbing sounds like the doctor hears from a good heart. There is response to the slightest touch of my fingers. My simple thoughts begin to take life, line by line. It only does what you tell it to, even when you hit the wrong letter, but it's an intimate, beloved sort of a companion.

And so we work together mostly during the silent night, talking to me. We don't know how many people or who they are. We are proud to be an accessory to what some term literature, which is but another word for expression. At any rate, this silent machine expresses the writer himself. It awaits the printing out of every thought.

It is interesting how models of everything useful keep changing. My first typewriter was an Oliver—first of all visible machines, long gone to its reward. These modern models are a joy and a delight. Your thoughts blossom right before you like the artist's picture on his canvas.

Typewriters are a wonderful boon to industry, and especially to book publishers, who formerly had to translate terrible scripts, like those of R. B. Cunningham Graham, whose writing resembled the tracks of a muddy-footed fly! I can't even boast of my own handwriting, so I let this little companion of mine do the translating. And so editors silently thank me—and I thank my intimate companion.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "On Giving and Getting."

Just Folks

ABRAHAM LINCOLN
This day we put our duties by
A tribute once again to give
To Lincoln, born like all to die,
But long in memory to live.Were he to speak to us, he'd ask
Lest freedom's starry flag should fall.
To that still great unfinished task
Renewed devotion from us all.We who now share the cause he led,
Resolved and steadfast must remain,
That liberty's devoted dead
Shall not have given their lives
In vain.

Dr. Wentz Ends World Tour To Study Asiatic Missions; Thanks Japs Will Lose War: Just returned from a 50,000-mile trip around the world as an emissary of the United Lutheran Church of America on several important missions, Dr. Abel Ross Wentz, in an interview, forewarned the failure of the Japanese invasion of China, minimized the immediate threat of a European war and discussed the foreign mission situation in several Asiatic countries.

Dr. and Mrs. Wentz arrived at their Seminary Ridge home late Sunday afternoon after arriving in New York Friday morning. They left here early last August. "It was a wonderful trip but getting home was the best part of it," said Mrs. Wentz.

Mrs. Wentz accompanied her husband on the round-the-world tour which he made as the official delegate of the United Lutheran Church of North America to the second decennial meeting in December of the International Missionary council at Tamborai, a suburb of Madras, South India.

ASKS MAJORITY DECISION ON SITTING JUDGE

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. John S. Fine regards majority rule as the best test of whether the Republican party should follow the "sitting judge" principle in election of three Superior Court judges this year.

"I shall be guided mainly by the attitude of the majority of the leaders on whether to support this principle," Fine told newsmen on Wednesday.

"I am primarily interested in what is best for Lloyd Wood's candidacy for governor," Fine remarked after participating in groundbreaking exercises for a new million dollar building for the Department of Labor and Industry.

The sitting judge principle means that neither major party would oppose judges up for re-election.

Seeking re-election this year to the appellate court are Democratic Judges Chester H. Rhodes and F. Clair Ross, whose term expire. Judge Robert E. Woodside, Republican, is expected to seek a full 10-year term. He was named to fill a vacancy last year.

Appeals For Support
Fine earlier indicated that he thought the GOP should go along with the sitting judge principle.

Meanwhile, the president of the Pennsylvania Bar Assn., issued a call for increased public support of the Pennsylvania plan for selecting judges.

J. Wesley McWilliams, in a Clearfield address Wednesday at a meeting of the Clearfield County Bar Assn., said, "The plan warrants the support not only of every lawyer, but of every citizen."

The Philadelphia attorney said the plan calling for appointment rather than election of judges, "will remove the judicial system from Court, Superior Court and courts of Allegheny and Philadelphia counties."

"Election of judges by the people throws them into the thick of partisan politics and maneuvering," he said.

Improvement continues in the condition of W. Guy Lingg, Hanover, brother-in-law of Sr. M. Emerentia, Paradise School, who has been at the Hanover Hospital for an operation.

Among other Hanover Hospital patients is Richard Herman, Abbotstown, formerly of here.

The York County Ministerium is preparing to hold a pre-Lenten retreat March 1 at Holtzschwamm church, this taking the place of the monthly March meeting.

Dr. Donald G. McGarey, Pennsylvania State University, was the speaker Sunday at Holtzschwamm church on behalf of the Church-League Field Day being observed this week in York.

OIL FLOODS AREA

LEBANON, Pa. (AP)—Eleven thousand gallons of fuel oil flooded a six-block here Wednesday after intruders opened a valve on a huge Sico Co. plant storage tank.
Oil covered two nearby fields and a playground, at some points to foot in depth. It flowed through several streets and eventually poured into a creek.

AMERICA'S DEFENSE

What constitutes the bulwark of our own liberty and independence?... Our reliance is in the love of liberty which God has planted in us. Our defense is in the spirit which prizes liberty as the heritage of all men, in all lands, everywhere."

Speech at Edwardsville, Ill., 1858

NOW, MORE THAN EVER, IN A WORLD VASTLY MORE COMPLEX THAN IN LINCOLN'S DAY, THE BULWARK OF OUR DEFENSE IS THE SPIRIT OF MEN WHO PRIZE LIBERTY IN ALL LANDS, EVERYWHERE."

Albright Spurs In Last Period To Down Bullets 64-63; Freshmen Win

After turning in their finest performance of the season at Lancaster Tuesday evening, the Gettysburg College cagers did a race-about Thursday evening to drop a 64-63 verdict to Albright here in a ragged and loosely played game that lacked the usual thrills which go with a close contest.

With Johnny Habeeb, the Bullets top scorer, sitting out the game in the stands due to a severe foot injury which is expected to sideline him for the remainder of the campaign, the Bullets could never hit their normal stride.

Probably the biggest contribution to the downfall of the Bream-men was their inability to connect consistently from the free throw lane. They converted but 17 of 41 tries and in the opening period missed no less than 12 of 15 attempts. Each team bagged 23 goals while Albright landed 18 fouls on but 26 attempts.

Eddie Gullian started his second-string outfit against the Bullets and they turned in a creditable performance although the locals set the pace throughout the first quarter. Goals by Joe Lang, Eddie Perren and Dick Hockenbury got Gettysburg off to a 6-2 lead in the first two minutes. Krick and Bill Snyder exchanged goals after 2:06. Albright picked up ground as the Bullet offense collapsed and knotted the count at 9-9 before Snyder landed a short shot for Gettysburg's first goal in over five minutes. At the end of the quarter the locals led 13-11.

Albright's regulars took the floor at the start of the second period and went ahead for the first time at 15-14 on goals by Riddell and Croke. The lead exchanged hands four times and was tied twice as the Bullets held a 30-27 half-time edge.

Bullets In Command
Lang opened the second half with a long toss but a goal by Conrad and foul and double-decker by DePaul tried the score at 32-32. Jim Sevebeck, who landed 12 points for the locals in the last half, and Croke exchanged foul tosses. After 5:00 when Gettysburg led 35-34 it appeared the Bullets would finally get going as Lang netted a long shot and other from underneath with Sevebeck connecting on a push shot. Riddell tapped in a goal for the Lions but a foul by Snyder and drive-in shot by Lang gave the Bullets their biggest advantage at 44-39 after 8:10. A pair of goals and foul by Pryor was followed by twin-pointers by Sevebeck and Snyder as the period ended with Gettysburg on top 48-41.

As late as the midway point of the last quarter the Bullets were in front 57-50 but the complexion quickly changed via a goal by Conrad, a foul by Pryor and two free tosses by DePaul. Sevebeck and Foreman exchanged goals. Lang netted a foul but DePaul dribbled under for the tying points at 60-60 with 2:50 remaining. Snyder broke the tie with a foul and then Riddell covered a pair to put Albright in front 62-61 with 1:25 left. The Lions immediately started to stall and when Pryor was fouled with five seconds remaining, he converted both. Jack Keller grabbed a one-handed shot two seconds before the final whistle.

Snyder, Lang and Sevebeck carried the brunt of the attack of the Bullets while Mike DePaul took the honors for Albright with 19.

The Bullet freshmen captured the preliminary game 65-58 for their fifth win against three reverses. Kalogowski and Peck were high with 21 and 17 tallies.

ASHENFELTER OUT TO BREAK TWO-MILE MARK

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—Horace Ashenfelter, who probably could run Alaska without breathing hard, will make an all-out assault on the world indoor two-mile record at the New York Athletic Club Games tomorrow night and he knows it's now or never as far as the present campaign is concerned.

The FBI agent from Glen Ridge, N. J., wouldn't exactly promise to break Fred Wilt's mark of 8:50.7, but he said he'll make a real good try at it.

New York A. C. coach Tommy Quinn and Wilt, himself, have it all figured out and it's no problem at all to their way of thinking.

"Horace will have to break the record tomorrow if he is going to do it this winter," Quinn said today. "He moved up to the three-mile distance at the National AAU Championships next week and after that it will be too late to get the edge again."

Ashenfelter has been flirting with Wilt's record for a year and, in fact, he pushed Freddie to the mark two years ago. He was about a second behind his brother F.B.I. agent then but never has come so close since.

66-Second Quarters
Quinn and Wilt think that if Horace can run eight 66-second quarters, he'll be home in 8:48—plenty to spare.

"But," grinned Quinn, "we'll be satisfied if he does 8:50."

Quinn said the 8:53.3 effort in the Millrose Games last week in which he was ahead of Wilt's record pace right up until the final quarter-mile, was just what Horace needed to put him in the right mental state.

"Fred and I have worked out a signaling system for Ash," he said. "Fred will station himself at the side of the track and if Horace is on schedule lap by lap, he will wave his hands horizontally. If he is one, two or three seconds ahead of schedule, Wilt will raise the required number of fingers. If he is behind schedule, Wilt will point his fingers down."

Ashenfelter has won six straight races this season and has been handicapped by a lack of competition. After a mile, he is all by himself, so his rivals try to draw him out while he laps them. But he's still running against the clock and that's the toughest way to set records.

Frank S. Hogan, Manhattan D.A. is on vacation. His office says it has a signed statement by Weinberg that he shot Bodenheim, 58, to death and killed Mrs. Bodenheim, 35, the former Ruth Fagan. The woman's body bore numerous stab wounds.

Authorities have refused to give any details of the signed statement, including any motive.

The D.A.'s office yesterday denied its silence was influenced by a recent proposal by the New York State Bar Assn. to restrict newspaper coverage of crime stories mainly to the courtroom.

The association tabled its resolution, which would ask for legislation on the matter, until another meeting this summer.

The proposal has been described as an "attempt to control and gag the press" by the New York State Society of Newspaper Editors, individual newspapers, and working newsmen's organizations.

The oldest five man team in American Bowling Congress competition was the Citizens' Bank team of Vermillion, S. D. The average age was 69.8.

NIT LOOKS TO FRANCIS, SELVY AS HIGHLIGHTS

By R. P. WATSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Invitation Tournament, competing with the National Collegiate Basketball Championships for the best college teams, has lost two battles but it may win the war yet by capturing the nation's highest scorers.

NIT hopes of landing Kentucky, the nation's top-ranked team and one of the two undefeated teams, were smashed last night when Athletic Director Bernie Shively said Kentucky would not ask the Southeastern Conference to waive its rule against NIT competition.

At about the same time as Shively's announcement, New York University won a 75-63 victory over Manhattan, the committee's last hope as an outstanding local attraction. Manhattan's record is now 11-8 while NYU is 7-7 and St. John's of Brooklyn only 7-8 even after nipping Richmond 62-59 last night.

Look To Selvy, Francis
Lacking a strong local team as an attraction, the NIT could solve its problems with Furman's Frank Selvy and Bevo Francis of Rio Grande, who between them will hold just about every collegiate scoring record by tournament time next month.

Selvy last night scored 51 points in Furman's 114-67 romp over Georgia Tech, running his 2½-year career total to 2,097.

Francis didn't play last night, but his 48.9 points per game average dominates the small college field just as Selvy's 37.6 mark towers over the major colleges.

Dayton Accepts
Little Rio Grande has no technicalities barring it from the NIT, but Furman would be bound to play in the National Collegiate Championships if it wins the Southern Conference tournament March 4-6. If the Southerners lose out, they'd have to get conference permission to accept an NIT bid. It's known the NIT has a bid all ready.

The NIT gained its third team yesterday when Dayton, with a 19-5 record in tough competition, accepted a bid. Duquesne, ranked just behind Kentucky as the nation's only other undefeated team, and Western Kentucky came in to the fold previously.

In other games last night's extremely light schedule, Wake Forest walloped North Carolina in the Atlantic Coast Conference 76-62; Maryland's Gene Shue brought his own school season scoring record to 452 by making 26 points in the Terrapins' 76-43 rout of Washington & Lee; and St. Bonaventure's whipped Siena 87-64.

REPEAT DELONE PLAY TONIGHT
A capacity crowd attended the opening night performance of "Meet Me in St. Louis" presented Thursday evening by the Senior class in the Delone High School Auditorium. The play will be given again this evening and Sunday night under the direction of Sister Maria Joseph, S.S.J.

The Delone Glee Club will sing in a three-part rendition, five or six selections popular around the year 1904.

The story of "Meet Me in St. Louis" revolves about an average St. Louis family, the Smiths, and their plans to travel to the World's Fair. Many difficulties are encountered as the three children attempt to defeat the change which would take them from their home, their friends, and even their pet, Lady Babble.

Phils Deny Report On Player Trade

CHICAGO (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies have denied a report that they are weighing an offer from the Chicago Cubs to trade infielders Roy Smalley, Bill Serena and Eddie Miksis for shortstop Granny Hamner.

The Chicago Tribune said the Cubs have made such an offer to Philadelphia.

"I'm sure the Cubs would like to make such a trade," a club spokesman said in Philadelphia, "but it's just another one of those rumors and there's nothing to it."

MOUNTAINEERS NIP AMERICAN IN LATE RALLY

Mt. St. Mary's boosted its hopes considerably for a playoff spot in the Mason-Dixon Basketball Conference by coming from behind in the last half to defeat American University 82-74 Thursday evening at Emmitsburg.

American hoped off to a 14-3 advantage in the opening minutes and then started to falter as the determined Mount aggregation fought back to pull the game from the fire in the closing stanzas.

At the end of the first period the Blue and White had reduced American's lead to 22-16 and at the end of the half trailed 44-40.

With 55 seconds remaining in the third period Bill Stanley netted a foul shot to put the Mount ahead for the first time at 60-59 and from there on out Coach Bill Clark's outfit held the lead.

Defense Clicks
The tight Mountaineer defense held American to but one field goal in the first seven minutes of the last quarter.

Jack Sullivan again paced the winners with 25 points with Sal Angelo adding 17 and George Donohue 13. Bud Daly and John Selvy accounted for 19 and 17 respectively for the losers.

The Mountaineers now have a 7-3 conference record and an overall mark of 7-9. American U. has a 7-2 record in league play.

Catholic University will play at Emmitsburg Saturday evening and next Tuesday Georgetown will be entertained on the Mount court.

The recipients are chosen for improving public understanding and appreciation of the constitutional rights and freedoms in the American way of life.

"GARDENS" GONE AT FORBES FIELD BUT IT'S OKAY BY SID GORDON

NEW YORK (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates have given up on Greenberg Gardens, their shortened left field barrier. But that doesn't worry Sid Gordon, who figures to carry much of the Bucs' batting load this season.

"There's no doubt that it'll cut out some of those cheap home runs," he said today, "but the guys who hit the long ball like myself shouldn't be affected too much."

The left field fence at Forbes Field will be 365 feet from home plate this season as compared with 335, the measurement since 1947. "Sure, I may lose two or three homers. But most of my long drives cleared the small fence and landed in real home run territory anyway," Gordon explained.

Redleg Roster Complete
Gordon, who was traded to Pittsburgh last December for Danny O'Connell in a six-player deal, was strictly an outfielder with Milwaukee last season. But he hopes Manager Fred Haney will give him a chance to play third base.

The Cincinnati Redlegs became the first major league club to sign its entire 1954 roster by coming to terms with pitchers Frank Smith and Clyde King. General Manager Gabe Paul said this was the earliest the club ever had brought every player in line.

Others Signing
Others to sign were shortstop George Strickland pitcher Dave Hoskins of the Cleveland Indians, infielder Pete Suder of the Philadelphia Athletics, catcher Stan Lopata of the Philadelphia Phillies, infielder Jerry Coleman of the New York Yankees, outfielder George Shuba and catcher Rubo Walker of Brooklyn, infielders Bob Hofman and Dave Williams of the New York Giants, outfielder Harry Elliott of the St. Louis Cardinals and rookie pitcher Paul Menking of the Chicago Cubs.

In other baseball news, Milwaukee southpaw Chet Nichols was mustered out of the Army and will report to the club in Bradenton, Fla., at the end of the month; the New York Giants revealed that infielder Daryl Spencer will be inducted into the Army at Wichita, Kan., Feb. 15; and veteran catcher Steve Lembo announced his retirement from organized baseball.

Depends On Injured
Asked if he personally would like to undertake the NCAA without Hagan, Ramsey and Tsiropoulos, Rupp said that depended on whether three ailing players mend sufficiently soon.

Jerry Bird, Willie Rouse and Hugh Coy have been shelved most of the season but have been taking some practice shots recently. They were considered key men before the season opened.

"If our injured boys come through, we would have something to go with," Rupp said.

Kentucky first must win the SEC crown to get into the NCAA, and since the Wildcats and Louisiana State dominate the conference a playoff between the two is considered a near certainty.

Virginia Wrestlers Here Saturday For Twin Bill; Other Bullet Teams Away

Five Gettysburg College athletic teams have engagements listed for Saturday with the Bullet varsity and freshman wrestling squads meeting the University of Virginia in a double-header here in the evening. The freshman match will start at 7:15 o'clock.

The Bullet basketball teams go to Bethlehem for a twin bill with the Lehigh University dribblers while the swim team meets the University of Delaware in the Blue Hens' tank.

Jack Shainline's grapplers will be meeting powerful opponents in the Cavalier matmen. Virginia has won six of seven matches, the lone setback being a two-point reverse at the hands of the strong University of Maryland.

The Virginia freshmen are unbeaten to date.

Gettysburg's varsity has split even in four matches, winning from Bucknell and Muhlenberg while losing to Hofstra and Temple.

Local Entries
Coach Shainline has nominated the following to oppose the Cavaliers: 123, Harry Burdian; 130, Sam Evangelista; 137, Jim Keesel; 147, Ernie Paliszewski; 157, Jerry Seidman; 167, Bill Sells; 177, Dick Mitchell, and heavyweight, Ronnie Miller.

The frosh squad, who have divided in two matches, will be composed of the following: 123, Ken Purdy or Dick Lalooma; 130, Bob Walmsley; 137, Jim Keesel; 147, "Skip" Lewis; 157, "Chuck" Heverly; 167, Ted Willich; 177, Jerry Harrell, and heavyweight, Dan Dooley.

Free programs explaining the rules for point-scoring in collegiate wrestling will be distributed to fans Saturday evening.

3 To Be Ineligible
It was too early, Shively said, to answer all the questions involved in tackling the tough NCAA.

Coach Adolph Rupp was unable to answer those questions either, but he felt the school hasn't abandoned hope that its top stars can take part in the NCAA.

All America Cliff Hagan, Frank Ramsey and Lou Tsiropoulos will have won their bachelor degrees before the NCAA playoffs and presumably will be ineligible under a rule disqualifying graduate students.

Depends On Injured
Asked if he personally would like to undertake the NCAA without Hagan, Ramsey and Tsiropoulos, Rupp said that depended on whether three ailing players mend sufficiently soon.

Sunday School Lesson

Rev. Dr. Howard R. and Margaret C. Gold

JESUS DECLARES HIS DEITY

John 7:37-44; 8:12-19

Key Verse: I am the light of the world; he who follows me will not walk in darkness, but will have the light of life. John 8:12. Almost from the beginning of His public ministry Jesus became the subject of controversy. Who was this man who went about healing sick people and always speaking of His authority? Men held various opinions. Some believed He was the long expected Messiah. Others believed He was a prophet, the greatest of all prophets. Still others, especially the Pharisees, were bitter in their opposition to Him because He claimed Divine power given Him directly by God.

In John's gospel we have a vivid record of an occasion when Jesus made two declarations of His deity, and the contention they aroused. It was on the eighth and closing day of the Feast of Tabernacles, one of the very important festivals in the Jewish calendar. It was held in commemoration of their forefathers from slavery in Egypt. The thousands who came to Jerusalem lived in temporary booths or tabernacles to remind them more strikingly of that historic trek. Every available spot was occupied. Even well-to-do Jews of the city left their comfortable homes to live for awhile in a booth.

singing and blowing of trumpets. Every morning and evening a priest brought from the pool of Siloam a golden vessel filled with water to the temple altar. It was also customary to light every evening four great lamps stationed on high pillars. The light would fall on the temple courts and far out over the city.

Jesus attended this festival and on the last and most important day made a statement. What He said was perhaps prompted by the bringing of water in the golden bowl. "If any one thirst, let him come to me and drink." Of course He spoke of the Samaritan woman at Jacob's well of the "living water." He could provide. Later, at the Festival, Jesus further declared, "I am the light of the world; he who follows me will not walk in darkness." There was contention among the hearers. Jesus had clearly announced His deity. He claimed equality with His Father by whom He was sent. The division was so sharp that the suggestion was made that Jesus should be arrested. On another occasion Jesus himself asked who the people and the disciples believed Him to be. Peter, speaking for the disciples declared, "You are the Christ the Son of the living God."

Peter's answer is also the answer of the Christian church through the ages. But it is not the belief of all men. Dr. Charles E. Jefferson used to speak of a "higher and lower view" of Christ. The higher, and only correct view of Christ, is that of Him as the only Son of God and Redeemer of the world. The lower view sees Jesus only as a good man, indeed as a sinless man; regards Him as Master, Prophet, Lord and Teacher. But how can Christ be a perfect man if the claim He makes that He and the Father are one is not true? How can he be a good teacher or a faithful Prophet?

No, the higher view of Christ as the Son of God was held by those who knew Him best—His disciples. Not so at first, but as they lived and worked with Him. And finally when He died on the cross, as He said He would; and conquered death and the tomb, as He said He would; His disciples were adamant in their testimony that Jesus and His Father are one and the same God.

MY JOB IS THRILLING!

I've been an usher in Church for many years. And my job is thrilling. It's not that I'm money-minded. Frankly, I hardly notice what a person puts into the plate. Envelopes, paper, coins—they're all the same to me.

What thrills me is the spirit of STEWARDSHIP. As I pass my plate through the pews, men and women are returning to God the fruits of their talents, their labor, their strength.

In my mind's eye I see the wonders God will work with these humble gifts . . . the Church's ministry of mercy, of comfort, of teaching, of saving.

But really, the greatest thrill is in placing my own gift on the plate. For I'm not just an usher—I'm a Christian. Receiving your gifts is merely my job. Giving my own gift is the joyous privilege that I share with YOU, and with all men who believe in Christ and His Church.

Next SUNDAY IS STEWARDSHIP SUNDAY.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

MORE MONEY TO POLIO FUND

The March of Dimes campaign in Littlestown has brought the total contributions to date to $1,270.17.

Four of the unusually large donations which helped boost this unprecedented high amount were: $401 received from the Fraternal Order of Eagles, Littlestown Aerie No. 2226, and of this contribution a greater portion was raised by the polio benefit dance sponsored by the Aerie and its Ladies' Auxiliary; $75.75 from the Littlestown Joint School System, which was received at the beginning of the campaign early in January; $68.56, Boydie's Restaurant, when $45.25 of this amount was raised in the "Pennies for Polio" appeal made to the restaurant patrons on January 30, and $23.31 was placed in coin collection box which had been put in the restaurant last month, and $50 given by the Littlestown Lions Club.

Seventy-nine sponsors have been received in the local campaign again this year. Sponsors, those who made contributions of $5 or more, during the past week include the Ladies' Aid Society of St. John's Lutheran Church, Mite Society of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Windsor Shoe Company, Inc., St. Paul's Lutheran Church and St. Mary's Lutheran Church School of Silver Run.

Mrs. Charles W. Weikert, chairman of the local campaign for the tenth consecutive year, has extended her thanks to all who co-operated and responded so generously in making the March of Dimes drive a great success locally.

Contributions are still being accepted by Mrs. Weikert, W. King St., and the final report on the 1954 appeal in about two weeks.

A shooting match was scheduled for Friday, February 19, 7 p.m., and the committee on arrangements includes Fred Kauffman, chairman, Ivan Arentz, Lawrence T. Crouse, Fred Rittase, Fred Shriver, Paul L. Hollinger, Edgar H. DeGroff, Earl L. Stites and W. E. Stites. The kitchen committee is composed of John Renner, Charles Snyder, G. Richard Knipple and Harry O. Harner. Another match was planned for Friday, March 5, and the committee in charge is comprised of Edward H. Leister, chairman, Glenn Kauffman, Warren Wisotzky, W. E. Stites, Earl L. Stites, Harry O. Harner, Bernard Dilman and R. J. Stonesifer.

DRAFT LAW TO EASE PAYMENTS ON F.H.A. LOANS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Legislation was drawn today to reduce the down payments and stretch out the repayment periods of Federal Housing Administration (FHA) home loans.

Identical bills by Sen. Capehart (R-Ind) and Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich) chairmen of the Senate and House banking committees, were described by the authors as the administration measures designed to carry out President Eisenhower's housing recommendations of Jan. 25.

They would cut down payments by varying amounts—for example, by $350 on a $10,000 house—and would reduce monthly payments by extending to 30 years, instead of the present 20 or 25, the time in which a loan must be paid off. Also, down payments as low as one used house as on new ones would be authorized. There is now a differential.

Insures Payment FHA itself does not make loans but only insures repayment of housing mortgages. The terms set up by law are required to make the loans eligible for FHA guarantee.

The proposed legislation, slated for full committee study, avoids any direct mention of Eisenhower's request for a four-year public housing program designed to start 35,000 units annually. Wolcott said Congress in 1949 authorized a 135,000-unit annual program which is still on the books. Noting that the House Appropriations Committee refused to provide more than 20,000 units for the current fiscal year, ending June 30, he told newsmen a "simple amendment" wiping out this restriction would fall within the jurisdiction of that committee. An avowed foe of past public housing programs, he said he saw no reason to authorize in specific terms the President's request when an even larger authorization is already on the statute books.

Leeway For President The President would be given considerable leeway by the proposed legislation to change down payments, repayment periods and interest rates within a sharply defined range.

For example, the President would be empowered to set interest rates on a fluctuating scale depending on the average yield of long-term government bonds. Both

FHA loans and those insured by the Veterans Administration could be set up to a maximum of 2½ per cent above the average market yield of these securities.

A new program providing 100 per cent government insurance for low-cost housing—up to a maximum $7,000—would be provided clearance or urban renewal or by any other "government action."

These loans, which would be granted only at the request of the community affected, would be repayable over a 40-year period and could be used for both new and old housing. The effective down payment would be $200, just enough to cover closing costs.

Groundbreaking For Northeast Extension Of Turnpike Delayed

HARRISBURG (AP)—The possibility arose today that the Pennsylvania Turnpike commission may have to set back groundbreaking on its northeastern extension until mid-March.

Agreement still must be reached on three important matters before actual work on the turnpike extension to the Scranton area can begin, a spokesman said.

The commission originally had set late February or early March as its groundbreaking goal.

The commission will resume closed meetings on Monday, the spokesman said, to discuss the location of interchanges on the extension, possible construction of a tunnel near Lehigh and whether to run the extension an additional 25 miles to U. S. Route 6.

The announced route would run 100 miles from Plymouth Meeting, near Norristown, to Moosic, just below Scranton. It would cost an estimated 200 million dollars.

Three Weeks For Bids

The spokesman noted that in the regular procedure of commission business, at least three weeks are needed to open bids after advertising the individual project.

That would take the bid opening well into March even if agreement on all pending matters should be reached next week. The bids still would have to be considered by the commission and contracts awarded.

For contracting purposes, the project is expected to be split into 10-mile sections. These sections then would be divided into three stretches and contracts let on the basis of either separate thirds or of the entire 10-mile section.

While all efforts are being made to get the northeastern extension under way, the commission still is bearing in mind the proposed Erie extension.

Erie Route Undecided

The route of the Erie extension has not as yet been decided and

Car Plunges 300 Feet, Kills Couple

BEAVER FALLS, Pa. (AP)—An auto failed to negotiate a curve on the Pennsylvania Turnpike and plunged down a 300-foot embankment last night, killing a Lorain, Ohio, couple and injuring a third person.

Fatally hurt were Wilbert H. Ellis, 31, and his wife, Elma, 39, both of 3506 Ada Ave., Lorain. Ellis formerly lived in Uniontown, Pa. Injured was Andrew Davis, 49, also of Lorain. He was admitted to Providence Hospital with undetermined injuries.

This roadway would run from below Scranton on the northeastern extension to the Delaware River near Delaware Water Gap, thus giving the turnpike two points at which to connect with spurs of the New Jersey Turnpike.

Of the two Delaware River bridges that would have to be built, the southern one, to cross near Bristol, Pa., and Bordentown, N.J., is almost a certainty. Financing still must be arranged, however.

HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Agriculture Department has before it a request from Pennsylvania egg dealers and handlers to reduce from 19 to 18 ounces the minimum weight per dozen for grading and marketing pullet eggs.

A group of egg dealers yesterday told Miles Horst, agriculture secretary, that the change is necessary in order to allow Pennsylvania to compete with neighboring states. Horst did not take immediate action but said he would consider the change.

News Collected At Random

however, who was causing the most uneasiness at this time. Mr. Lincoln was very much worried about him when he departed for the dedication and apparently left some instructions for Secy. Stanton to keep him posted on the child's condition. By the time the President reached Gettysburg, or shortly after, on the evening of November 18, a dispatch was received from Stanton which contained this personal information: "Mrs. Lincoln reports your son's health is a great deal better this evening."

On the 19th, the day of the delivery of the address, another telegram reached the President from Stanton which carried this welcome note: "Mrs. Lincoln reports your son's health a great deal better, and that he will be out today." At some time, probably before the receipt of the last dispatch, the President had advised Edward Everett about the illness of his son. On the day following the Gettysburg ceremonies Edward Everett wrote to Lincoln thanking him for some courtesies extended and expressed appreciation for Lincoln's eloquent speech. He concluded the letter with this note of personal interest: "I hope your anxiety for your child was relieved on your arrival." The President acknowledged Mr. Everett's note on the same day it was received and concluded his reply with this comment: "Our sick boy, for whom you kindly inquire, is past the worst."

The first symptoms of Mr. Lincoln's illness appeared on the very day he delivered his address at Gettysburg. While on train returning to Washington that evening one of the members of the party recalled that the President was "suffering from a severe headache and lying down in the drawing room with his head bathed in cold water." The next morning there appeared at the head of the editorial column in the Washington Chronicle a notice dated November 18, which stated that the President would not receive visitors until after Congress convened. Whether or not as early as this date he had some symptoms of illness we are not advised. This notice was carried every day until the reading of his annual message.

The family physician attending the Lincolns at this time was Dr. Robert King Stone. We are not able to determine the exact day on which the President announced to his cabinet that the doctor had diagnosed his illness as varioloid, a mild form of smallpox which was prevalent in the city. Lincoln wrote his son, Robert, about two months later that "there is a good deal of smallpox here."

It is evident that Mr. Lincoln and his son "Tad" were both ill with the same ailment. This item appeared in the Washington Chronicle for November 28: "The President's youngest son, who had been sick for some time past with scarlatina, was much better yesterday, the crisis of his disease being past. It is expected he will be able again to be out in a short time."

It is difficult to gain much detailed information about the President's condition between Nov. 19 and November 28 when the earliest press dispatches about his illness began to appear.

On November 28 the National Republican contained this brief notice: "We are glad to announce that the President is much better today. The fever from which he has suffered has left him. Wednesday and Thursday night his suffering was chiefly from severe pains in the head. Yesterday and the day before he was not permitted by his physician to hold any interviews, even with members of his cabinet."

The best evidence of the President's declining health can be observed by the gradual falling off his correspondence after the Gettysburg trip and from November 26 to December 1, inclusive, not a single autograph writing by the President is known to exist. On December 1, John Hay, assistant private secretary of the President, replied to Major General Dix who had written the President about breaking ground for the Union Pacific Railroad:

"Dear Sir: 'I have not been permitted until today to present to the President your communication of the 28th of November. He directs me to express his deep regrets that his illness will prevent him from giving expression to the profound interest he feels in the success of a task so vast and beneficial as that which you are about to inaugurate. I have the honor to be Your Obedient Servant.

"John Hay
Assistant Priv. Secy."

The Washington correspondent to the Boston Journal observed in his dispatch dated Dec. 2:

"Mr. Lincoln's scarlatina of yesterday is pronounced varioloid today and if it could be magnified into smallpox tomorrow, it would perhaps keep politicians away, and thus give him time to complete his message. As it is he has only been able to send detached portions to the printers, among them his views in brief on reconstruction."

On the same day a Washington paper carried this notice: "Convalescent—President Lincoln is rapidly recovering from his recent severe indisposition and will be able in the course of a few days to resume the arduous duties of his office."

Also on Dec. 2, Lincoln wrote a letter to George Opdyke and others acknowledging their invitation to him to be present at a Cooper Institute meeting in New York on December 3. He stated that "the now early meeting of Congress, together with a temporary illness, render my attendance impossible."

As late as December 7 the President was still unable to receive guests as one of the traditional customs of the nation's capital was postponed on account of his illness. The annual visitation of the justices of the Supreme Court to the White House which had been set for December seventh had to be postponed and they finally made the historic pilgrimage on December 17.

When Congress opened on December 7 the President was still somewhat under the weather but he had succeeded in having his annual message ready. In the prayer offered by Dr. Sutherland at the opening session of the Senate on December 8 he included this petition: "We beseech Thee, O Lord, to recover the President from his present illness again to health."

The 51st American Bowling Congress tournament will be held in Seattle.

ARMED FORCES BUYING HUGE MISSILE STOCK

By ELTON C. FAY
AP Military Affairs Reporter
WASHINGTON (AP)—The armed forces have received or are asking authority to buy more than three billion dollars worth of guided missiles, which they started procuring four years ago.

This is for actual procurement of missiles. It does not include announced formally within a matter of days. Pakistan officials are said to be eager to conclude it before next Tuesday's important provincial elections, hoping an announcement would help Premier's Ali's party.

Any American move to arm Pakistan would be certain to provoke bitter objections from India's Prime Minister Nehru. He has been mobilizing Indian public opinion against any such American-Pakistan military tieup on the ground it would upset peace in Asia.

other multimillion-dollar outlays for designing, developing and testing experimental gadgets—the research part of the program.

The figures, made available today in response to a reporter's questions, do not mean that the American arsenal now necessarily contains three billion dollars worth of missiles for the Air Force, Army and Navy.

Off Drawing Boards
An undisclosed part of the total value is material still to be delivered on orders placed some months or even a year or more ago. And another portion, about 400 million dollars in requests for new spending authority, is contained in the proposed budget for the fiscal year starting next July 1.

But it is a measure of the effort being devoted to producing robot weapons to augment and eventually supplant some of the conventional weapons of the three services. It is indicative, too, of the emergence of controllable missiles from the drawing boards and laboratories to production lines.

Lincoln Fan From Near Hanover Junction Declares Recent Photo Was Of Martyred President Taken While Enroute To Deliver Immortal Gettysburg Address, Nov. 19, 1863

go Lincoln enthusiast; Dr. Roy Basler, of the Library of Congress and a Lincoln editor; C. Percy Powell, head of the congressional libraries manuscript department; Milton Kaplan, of the prints and photographs division of the library, and Hirst Millhollen, curator of photographs. Thomas Norrell, a railroad expert as well as a Lincoln fan; Mr. Bowman, and Miss Helen Nicolay, the daughter of Lincoln's secretary, were all certain that the photos were of Lincoln on his way to deliver the Gettysburg Address. Miss Nicolay based her opinion largely on the "will to believe," despite the fact that she was unable to identify either her father or anyone else of prominence.

Now that Mr. Bowman brings new evidence to support his argument that the Brady photographs are of Lincoln on his way to Gettysburg, it seems necessary to summarize the circumstances under which Lincoln travelled to dedicate the National Cemetery here.

Invitation An Afterthought

As every schoolboy knows the invitation to President Lincoln to speak at Gettysburg was almost an afterthought. His invitation to the exercises of the dedication was a printed circular, one of hundreds sent to members of Congress, Governors, and other prominent officials.

When he indicated that he would attend, those in charge of the exercises, with some misgivings, suggested that Lincoln, after the principal oration by the famous Edward Everett, formally set apart the grounds to their sacred use by a few appropriate remarks in his capacity as Chief Executive of the nation. The suggestion that Lincoln speak was made more than six weeks after Everett had been named the official orator, and but little more than two weeks before the dedication, November 19, 1863.

It was first suggested that Lincoln leave Washington on Thursday, the day of the dedication, at 6 a.m., travel to Baltimore and leave there at 8 a.m. in order to arrive in Gettysburg at noon, two hours before the exercise. The President and his party would depart at 6 p.m. and arrive at Washington by midnight. Lincoln rejected this itinerary as too hasty and leaving much to chance should an accident occur. Secretary of War Edwin Stanton then set the travel date at noon, Wednesday, November 18. It was to be a four-car special train decorated with flags and bunting, carrying cabinet members, the President's secretaries, including John Nicolay, foreign representatives of prominence, and many others of distinction.

A marine lieutenant, Henry Clay

Cochrane, recorded his impressions of the trip, noting that Lincoln was cheered by 200 people in Baltimore before continuing his journey at 2 p.m. Cochrane also reports that as the train neared Hanover Junction Lincoln arose saying "Gentlemen, this is all very pleasant, but the people will expect me to say something tomorrow, and I must give the matter some thought." With that he retired to the rear room of the car. This would have been some time after 3 p.m. according to Cochrane. At Hanover Junction the Presidential party changed from the Northern Central to the Hanover Branch Railroad. There is a tradition that Lincoln spoke to the crowd of several hundred from the rear platform of his car. The President is further supposed to have given John Eckert, conductor of the train, a silver watch as a memento.

Following Everett's two-hour oration and an ode by the Baltimore and Ohio Glee Club, the president delivered his dedicatory remarks. The ten immortal sentences were spoken in five minutes.

The Harrisburg Patriot stated in its story of the Gettysburg journey that a group of state notables went to Hanover Junction to meet the President with appropriate ceremonies. But Hirst Millhollen, the Library of Congress expert, asserts that the meeting never took place, because Lincoln arrived late and the Pennsylvania delegation was also delayed by a mishap and failed to appear.

Speaks For Minority

At this point, in the face of expert opinion, Russell Bowman speaks for the unshaken minority. Undaunted by jousts with Ralph Newman, proprietor of the Abraham Lincoln Book Shop in Chicago; Roy Meredith, author of Mr. Lincoln's Camera Man, and Sterrant Loran, author of the Pictorial History of the Great Emancipator's Life, in which he failed to make any converts, Bowman has once again marshalled his arguments to clinch his point that the tall man with the stove pipe hat is Lincoln on his way to Gettysburg.

A native of the Hanover Junction area, Bowman, whose grandfather was a tenant farmer on the property which adjoined the old station and whose uncle was for half a century the station's telegraph operator, asserts that he has spoken with persons who met and shook hands with Lincoln on that memorable day in 1863. It seems certain also, he says, that Captain Abdiel Wirt Elchelberger, president of the railroad, shook hands with Lincoln and conversed with him at the station. And one William H. Long, a Hanover non-agrarian now residing in Pikesville, Md., also recalls the fact that Lincoln alighted from the train to be greeted by a group of Hanoverians. Reportedly the president spoke about the cavalry scouting under Colonel White of Virginia attached to General Early's forces.

The speech, however, seems to have been delivered from the rear platform of the car.

Bowman's Case

According to Bowman the train shown in the Brady photo is the welcoming train sent down by Judge Wills from Gettysburg to welcome the President at the

Letter to the Editor

Dear Sir:

The American Civil War, as we know, was the worst tragic period of our history. Our martyred President, Abraham Lincoln, whose birth-day we celebrate today, bore the terrible burden of those four years of national strife prolonged by political differences.

The Civil War is and has been termed "The War of Secession," "War of the Rebellion," but many educated people, including our late Franklin D. Roosevelt, call the Civil War, "The War between the States," while the Constitution provides that "no state can make war against another," and that "only Congress may declare war."

If Mr. Lincoln in his Gettysburg address would have said, "Now, we are engaged in a war between the states," it would not be recognized the world over, as it is today. What Lincoln did say was, "Now we are engaged in a great Civil War," which was exactly correct.

Through the south to this day, most of those people use the term, "War between the States," which I assume modifies the fact that the Confederacy also was a "Rebellion" against the United States government. They don't like to be termed rebels. In our American Revolution, the thirteen original colonies were rebels against British tyranny and oppression.

When the south seceded from the Union, they had no nation and no flag.

A flag represents a nation, so that all that they had was a banner, the Stars and Bars, which still wave over many public buildings through the south; while here in Gettysburg a replica of that banner is sold, and for what?

Our grandfathers fought, suffered and died to do away with that. Now, it is being commercialized.

Fraternally yours,
W. L. BALDWIN

Junction, where according to the New York Times of Thursday, November 19, 1863, the president was to be received with becoming honors and the whole party then to proceed to Gettysburg. Bowman asserts that the president had stepped down from his special train with umbrella and brief case to board the Wills-Elchelberger welcoming train, which was headed south toward Baltimore only to be turned by a manually operated turntable to head back toward Gettysburg.

He successfully discounts the objection that it would have been too late to take the photograph at the time at which Lincoln arrived at Hanover by referring to a telegram from Daniel McCallum, military superintendent ent of railroads, that the train "moved successfully." In other words Lincoln left Baltimore about 2 p.m. as scheduled and must have arrived at Hanover Junction well before 4 p.m. in ample light to take a photograph. Indeed, Bowman's friends Thomas Norrell, railroad expert, and Smith H. Oliver, a Smithsonian railroad historian, took such a photograph on November 18, 1952 at the approximate time of Lincoln's arrival and came up with approximately the same sort of shadows as appear on the Brady photo.

The Bowman case receives some support from a monument in Hanover, Pa., a bronze plaque which commemorates the stop-over in Hanover of the great president on his way to Gettysburg. The bas-relief of Lincoln's head in profile carries the following inscription:

"Abraham Lincoln on November 18, 1863, addressed the citizens of Hanover from the rear platform of a Hanover Branch Railroad coach when the train bearing him to Gettysburg for the dedication of the National Cemetery, came down a switch to the station which stood on this site."

With this Bowman rests his case.

The Unanswered Questions

As we see it these things have been proven. Lincoln's train stopped at Hanover Junction where the president addressed a group of citizens enroute to Gettysburg. That perhaps Lincoln stepped from his train and boarded another sent down by Judge Wills to greet him.

But has it been proven that photographs were taken? That this particular photograph is of Lincoln? Indeed, has it been proven that this is the Lincoln train? Perhaps this trip was to Baltimore, without Lincoln, in 1864 or 1865, without necessity of turning the train on the turntable. Where are Secretary Seward, or Secretary Usher, or Postmaster General Blair, or Nicolay, or any of the other distinguished personages who made the trip with him? It is inconceivable that none of these personages were in evidence among the crowd. Or were politicians averse to favorable publicity a century ago?

Would a soldier in the presence of his Commander in Chief have remained seated, as the military man in the foreground of the picture? Would Lincoln have been carrying his own luggage, while his companions stood empty handed? Where are the marks of welcome: bunting, flags, etc? Would the crowd, which purportedly looked forward eagerly to meeting Lincoln, have comported themselves in such a casual fashion? Why such obscure focus if Brady, famed for his portrait work, were really "shooting" the President? Why such a small crowd? Why spectively should be used. Concerning peaches, the county agent observed that scale insects are on the increase in some orchards and that leaf curl was severe in 1953, thus increasing the need for a dormant spray.

Recommended to control San Jose, Terrapin and European fruit Lecanium Scale, red mite and leaf curl where a fall or winter dormant spray was not applied, the spray calls for use of two gallons (three for a concentrate) of miscible superior oil per 100 gallons of spray. It is noted that where terrapin scale is a problem the amount of oil should be increased to three gallons. If superior oil emulsion is used instead of a miscible oil three gallons per 100 gallons of spray is recommended. Where a fall spray was not applied leaf curl can still be prevented, Zettle said, by adding two pounds copper sulphate and three pounds of fresh spray lime to the oil.

Zettle said that where the copper sulphate and lime is used it should be placed in the spray tank first and then the oil added. Where scales and mites are not a problem oil may be omitted and leaf curl controlled and brown rot reduced by using six pounds each (eight pounds for a concentrate spray) of copper sulphate and spray lime.

SAYS SOMEONE 'LEAKED' STORY ON DISMISSALS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Rooney (D-NY) said today "someone in the department must have leaked the story" about the number of State Department security dismissals effected under the Eisenhower administration.

Newspaper accounts published Wednesday said that in secret testimony before a House Appropriations subcommittee Under Secretary of State Walter Bedell Smith had said that of 534 security dismissals, just 11 could be attributed to reasons of questionable loyalty. The first published version of this purported testimony gave no indication of its source. Later versions were attributed to House members who asked not to be named. Smith has not commented.

Story Leaked

R. W. Scott McLeod, the State Department's security administrator who is now on a Republican-sponsored speaking tour, described the figures as inaccurate but gave

Cardinals Face Long Training Trek

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Cardinals, who annually do their spring training in St. Petersburg, Fla., will take a cross-country trek this year. The Redbirds will play their first five exhibition games in Florida, then hop to California where they will meet the Chicago Cubs in two contests at Los Angeles, and one at Fresno. Both squads will play a game at Mesa, Ariz. Following this series, the Cards return to St. Petersburg to resume their Florida schedule.

no others.

"I think Mr. McLeod should be back in Washington looking into his own office," said Rooney, a member of the subcommittee. "Someone in the department must have leaked the story. The exact facts in the matter will appear when the hearings in question and answer form are formally made public by the committee. They will speak for themselves."

A State Department spokesman, told of Rooney's comments, said he had no knowledge of any "leaks," but he added: "Leaks are very difficult to control."

Teacher Says He Is Not Red Now

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The President of the Philadelphia Teachers Union has testified that he is not a Communist party member and has not been one since he took the commonwealth's compulsory loyalty oath.

Francis P. Jennings declined, however, in a hearing yesterday before the board of education to say whether he had ever been a Communist or a member of any "Red front" organization.

The board reserved decision on whether to retain or dismiss Jennings from his public school post.

CLERK TO YORK MAYOR NABBED

YORK, Pa. (AP)—Ralph B. Lehman, 27, former clerk to Mayor Howard E. Eyster, was released on $1,000 bail after being charged with embezzlement of $4,500 in city funds.

Herman W. Klinedinst, city controller, said that Lehman has returned all the money missing from mechanical device license fees and police court fines.

George W. Atkins, York County district attorney, who ordered and

95 Missing Yanks Are Declared Dead

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army today identified 95 additional officers and men who are now known to have died in Korea.

All had been carried on the missing in action list for more than one year. The death determinations were based on evidence obtained from exchanged prisoners and other sources.

Among those now listed as dead are these Pennsylvanians:

Pfc. Ella J. Iannelli, son of Mrs. Philomena Iannelli, 3610 Perryville Ave., Pittsburgh.
Cpl. Warren J. Ingland, brother of Weston Ingland, 567 Cherry Ave., Waynesburg.
Cpl. Carl Lucas, son of Mrs. Anna Lucas, Box 109, Clymer.
Pfc. Walter F. Piper, friend of Miss Doris E. Kearns, 1447 S. 32nd St., Philadelphia.

announced Lehman's arrest yesterday, said he was surprised city officials were aware of the shortage early in January and never notified his office.

Tuesday Klinedinst said he would finish a complete audit of the city's finances before deciding whether to press charges against Lehman.

Eyster forced Lehman to resign from his $3,800 a year job two weeks ago when the shortage was discovered after receipts were under the previous year.
